What is Beruna Books?

C.S. Lewis wrote,
"Since it is so likely that (children) will meet cruel enemies, let them at least have heard of brave knights and heroic courage."

In a world where everything is flashing before us in an instant, we value the ability to pause and enjoy the things that have withstood the test of time. At Beruna Books, adults and children alike will have the ability to escape from their day-to-day lives and embrace the fantastical through the world of literature. By virtue of books, they will be able to face monsters, travel through time, experience some of the greatest historical events, and dream of what it might be like to be a part of that which we can only imagine. Beruna Books is about finding what is true, good, and beautiful in our everyday lives, even if merely through the pages of books.

Through pop-up events and book fairs tailored to each organization's needs, Beruna Books seeks to bring these books to you.

We know the world is vast and a bit frightening, so the goal of Beruna Books is to encourage its patrons to not merely be partakers of the world around them, but to help create it.

Why is Beruna Books different?

Beruna Books seeks to provide quality children's literature, ensuring that every book you pick up is worth you and your child's time. With the amount of book options available today, it can be a bit overwhelming when choosing selections for your child.

We understand that children will memorize whatever you give them. At Beruna Books, we want to ensure that what they are reading is worth memorizing. We seek to provide an environment where parents can rest assured knowing that the books their children are reading are beneficial for their heart, mind, and soul.

Here we have chosen books of courage, creativity, and virtue. Stories that teach us how to be better people, how to use our imagination, and require us to be thoughtful. Stories that you won't be tired of reading over and over again. Good children's books benefit not just children, but adults too. We want to ensure that every book at Beruna Books benefits all who read it.
